

MINERS SECURE HABEAS CORPUS

Western Federation Of Miners Are Granted Writ By The Idaho Supreme Court.

IS SURPRISE TO THE PROSECUTION

Moyer And Haywood Are Accused Of Murder. And It Was Thought Their Cases Would Come Under Ordinary Law Process.

Boise, Idaho, Feb. 24.—Late Friday the supreme court of Idaho granted an application for a writ of habeas corpus in favor of Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone, officials of the Western Federation of Miners accused of conspiring to murder former Gov. Stump. The action came as a great surprise and may tend to break down the prosecution's case, as two of the three men, Moyer and Haywood, were accused of actual murder, which does not permit of habeas corpus proceedings.

The writ is made returnable March 1, at which time a return will be made and a time set for hearing.

Full Bench Grants Writ.

Attorney E. F. Richardson, representing the officers of the Western Federation of Miners, presented to the full bench of the Idaho supreme court the petition for the writ. The petition alleges conspiracy on the part of Gov. Frank Gooding and Attorneys Hawley and Vandura, who are employed in the prosecution, to deprive the prisoners of their liberty without due process of law.

The application is based upon the extradition statute of the United States. That is the real point, though many violations of the constitution of the United States are alleged. The extradition statute provides for the extradition of persons who having committed an offense in one state flee from its jurisdiction into that of another. It is the intention to carry the point to the United States Supreme court on a writ of error if the state supreme court refuses to release the prisoner on the writ.

Orchard Said to Be Dying.

Another sensation in the case came Friday evening, when the prison officials announced that Harry Orchard, on whose alleged confession the federation officers are held, is dying. No details were given.

Earlier in the day attorneys representing the Western Federation sought an interview with Orchard, but were informed that the prisoner was too ill to see them.

In the event of Orchard dying it is hard to surmise what fate will befall the men accused in his alleged confession.

A Wisconsin and Michigan train smashed into a log train on the "Y" at Bagley Junction, demolishing the caboose and two cars. Fire threatened the wreckage, but was extinguished.

John Marion, while working a wood-cutting machine at Peshtigo, was caught in a movement of ice at Owen sound this week. The ice shove broke the boom holding the logs, but none of them went out.

The Marinette Gas Engine company will probably never be reorganized. An effort to secure capital and take the plant out of the receiver's hands failed. The company was doing a good business at Marinette, but moved to Chicago Heights, Ill., and failed.

Miss Mae Bradley was nearly asphyxiated at Marinette by gas and smoke from a kerosene oil stove, which had been placed to warm her sick room. Her mother noticed dense black smoke coming down the stairway, and found the sick girl unconscious, but was able to save her life.

BROKERS HEARD ON SWINDLING CHARGE

Trustees Company, Brokers and Bank Alleged to Have Been in Combination to Defraud.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Feb. 24.—Charged with using the mail to defraud, John S. White, president of the Imperial Trustee company of Jersey city, and Clyde Colt and Robert G. Ruxton, brokers of this city, were up for hearing today before United States Commissioner Shields. It is alleged that Colt and Ruxton sent out thousands of circulars setting forth that they represented clients with millions of idle capital to invest in first-class securities. When visited by representatives of various concerns, it is alleged, the brokers proposed to handle the securities offered, provided they were guaranteed by the Imperial Trustee company. White charged sums ranging from $200 to $5,000 for guaranteeing the securities, and it is alleged that the three men divided the "gratuity." The Hanover Bank of Boston, a small concern, was also involved in the scheme, the exposure of which caused the bank to close its doors.

MINISTERS ASKED TO HAVE BIBLE DAY

American Bible Society Will Be Ninety Years Old Tomorrow, and Is in Debt.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Feb. 24.—The nineteenth anniversary of the establishment of the American Bible Society falls tomorrow, and while the secretary's officials have decided to have no central celebration of the event, they have sent letters to 50,000 Protestant ministers of all bodies in the United States and Canada, asking that the day be observed in their churches as "Bible Day," and that in the services the work of the society in printing and distributing the Scriptures for nearly a century, be referred to. A further request is made that the day's offerings be devoted to the work of the society, in an effort to relieve the organization from some part of its present financial burdens. The society is now working to secure an amendment fund of $5,000,000. This fund was to have commemorated the nineteenth anniversary, but the more pressing financial needs have been receiving more attention than the endowment. Regular receipts of the society have fallen off in the last year for two, so that its reserve resources have been used up in order that retrenchment of its work might not be necessary. Now the reserve is gone and the society is, for the first time in twenty-five years, in debt. An effort is being made to secure $50,000 in addition to the usual annual receipts, and it is hoped that all of this amount, of which a considerable sum already has been contributed, may be forthcoming as a result of the offerings at tomorrow's anniversary services.

Wilhelm Gericke has resigned as conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra, his resignation to take effect at the end of the present season. Rear Admiral Asa Waller will succeed Rear Admiral C. M. Chesler as superintendent of the naval observatory at Washington when the latter retires.

FARMERS JOIN TO HOLD WHEAT

Cereal Growers Are Urged To Hold Their Product For An Advance Now.

WILL REFUSE TO SELL ANY GRAIN

Dollar Wheat Is To Be The Basis For Corn, Oats And Rye, If The Organization Of Farmers Can Bring It About.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 24.—The organization of 200,000 farmers in the cereal producing states to hold wheat for a price of $1 and corn, oats and other cereals for corresponding prices has been formed by J. A. Everitt of this city, president of the American Society of Equity, and he claims that the organization has been so perfected that there is not the least danger of its purpose failing of accomplishment. He has been working for years with a view to getting the farmers in a position where they could dictate prices for their crops, and he claims to have at least arrived at a point where this can be accomplished, and that on March 1 every farmer in the organization will refuse to sell his grain and will hold his wheat and corn till prices fixed by the combination are paid.

Gets Support From South.

Everitt is in the grain business here and has been in close touch with the farmers of the west for years. He publishes a farmers' paper and several years ago originated the American Society of Equity, whose avowed purpose is to educate the farmers of the country to the point of demanding good prices for their products and holding them till the prices are paid. Within the last few months he has been especially active in promoting the organization and has endeavored to get tobacco growers of Kentucky and cotton growers of the south into the organization. How far he has succeeded with these classes is not known, but he claims to have formed such an organization among them that they will be back of the cereal growers in any attitude that they may assume towards prices for their products.

Everitt has gathered statistics of corn and wheat carefully in the last few months and advertises that he has secured data that practically cover every bushel of corn and wheat in the west.

He has advised the members to hold these cereals, pointing out the advantages of a combination and urging them to pool their products, so to speak, and refuse to sell wheat and corn except at prices that may hereafter be agreed upon by the combine. He has advised the members of the society of the exact condition of the growing wheat, the amount of corn acreage that is contemplated this year and other data bearing upon the two crops.

Everitt believes that the present low and falling prices of wheat and corn are the result of combinations, and that the only way in which the farmers can meet this is by a combination among themselves. He expects to have 200,000 farmers in the combination before March 1, and these, he contends, can control prices for their practically all that have wheat in bins and corn in cribs.

BISHOP COADJUTOR INSTALLED TODAY

Dr. William Walter Webb Officially Made Assistant to Dr. Isaac Lea Nicholson.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 24.—Clergymen and laymen of the Episcopal church of this diocese and others were brilliantly represented here today at the consecration of the Rev. Dr. William Walter Webb as assistant to Dr. Isaac Lea Nicholson, the venerable bishop of Milwaukee. The ceremony was performed in accordance with the full Episcopal ritual in All Saints cathedral. Headed by Bishop D. S. Tuttle of St. Louis, who presided at the service, the dignitaries marched to the cathedral in full canonicals. There were nearly one hundred clergymen in the line. Following them were the faculty and students of Nashotah college, of which Dr. Webb was president for a number of years. These wore academic caps and gowns. Bishop Nicholson was the chief consecrator and assisting him were Bishop Grafton of Fond du Lac and Bishop White of Michigan City, as co-consecrators. The presiding bishops were Bishop Williams of Omaha and Bishop Coadjutor Osborne of Springfield, Ill. The sermon was delivered by Bishop Anderson of Chicago. The attending presbyters were Rev. William McGarvey of Philadelphia and Rev. H. D. Robinson, warden of Racine college. The music was one of the notable features of the ceremony. The organist was Professor Stearns of Nashotah college and the service was sung by the students of that institution.

Sketch of Dr. Webb's Life.

Dr. William Walter Webb, the new bishop-coadjutor of the Milwaukee diocese, is 48 years of age and a student, priest, teacher and executive head of his work in the Episcopal church has been crowned with marked success. He is liberally educated; his decision to study for the ministry having been reached while he was taking the scientific course at the University of Pennsylvania. He then went to Hartford, where he took the classical course, graduating with the B.A. degree in 1882 and receiving the degree of M. A. in 1885. His theological training was received at Berkeley divinity school. In 1886 he was ordained as an Episcopal clergyman by Bishop Williams of Connecticut, serving later as assistant rector at Trinity church, Middlefield, Conn., and of the Church of the Evangelist at Philadelphia, and as rector of the Church of St. Elizabeth at Philadelphia. Dr. Webb came to Wisconsin in 1892 as professor of dogmatic theology at Nashotah college. Five years later he was made president of the institution, which prospered to a marked degree under his leadership.

PROMINENT MEMBERS OF SOCIETY WEDDED TODAY

Daughter of Leader in American Colony at London Bride of Rough Rider.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Eric, Pa., Feb. 24.—Many prominent society folk of New York, Washington and other places were included in the fashionable throng that filled St. Paul's cathedral today at the wedding of Miss Thora Strong and Reginald Ronalds of New York. The wedding was one of the most brilliant ever seen here. Bishop Franklin Spaulding of Utah officiated, assisted by the local clergy. An elaborate wedding breakfast and reception followed the ceremony at the cathedral. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Strong of this city and a granddaughter of the late William L. Scott, millionaire and railroad president, from whom she inherited a large fortune. Reginald Ronalds, the bridegroom, is a son of the late Peter Lorillard Ronalds. His mother for many years has been the acknowledged leader of the fashionable American colony in London. Reginald Ronalds was a member of Roosevelt's Rough Riders. He is engaged in business in New York and is a prominent clubman.

= FORTY YEARS AGO =

Janesville Daily Gazette, Saturday, February 24, 1866.—Arrested for Larceny.—A man named James Cawley was arrested on Thursday afternoon for stealing a watch from a woman in the Bates' block, named Dora Gilbertson. After considerable questioning Cawley was brought before Justice Hudson, and upon examination was held to bail in the sum of $500. While the prisoner was endeavoring to obtain bail, a gentleman told him that the best way out of it would be to confess the whole thing, which he did by producing the stolen watch. This effectually established his guilt, and he is now lodged in the county jail to await his trial. The reputation of the prisoner in question is none of the fairest, and from what we learn of him the worst thing he has to fear is justice.

Miss Anna Dickenson.—We understand that this gifted Quakeress is to deliver an address in this city next Tuesday—just at the time when universal suffrage is being discussed, when women are vindicating their right to be considered equal to our best authors and statesmen, we deem it quite opportune that Miss Dickenson should continue her efforts.

She not only charms by her eloquence but she exerts a powerful influence in the moulding of public opinion.

Like all pioneers she is very radical. Too much so, for practical life; yet no one who hears her can fail to be benefited.

FOOTLIGHT FLASHES

Dramatized from Charles Felton Pidgin's story, "Quincy Adams Sawyer" will be produced at the Myers' Grand, Tuesday, February 27. In the stage production of "Quincy Adams Sawyer" the essential features of Charles Felton Pidgin's famous New England novel of the same name have been followed, and they are said to have been handled to extremely clever advantage. "It is a distinctly enjoyable piece, both in itself and in the ingeniously natural work of the people presenting it. The production is to be seen here soon. There is a laugh almost everywhere, despite the tender seriousness pertaining to Alice Pettengill's pathetic figure—as the much-loved blind girl and to her value as the central figure of the love story. It is a most entertaining picture of rural life, and presented on quite a different plan from any other bucolic drama. Its features and typical characters are said to be exceptionally well presented.

Break Into Home at Edgerton While Occupants Are Away—Frustrated, However, in Their Raid.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Edgerton, Feb. 23.—Some one well posted unkindly took advantage of Mr. Joel Thompson's absence in Chicago and the Misses Leo and Venice Thompson's absence to Mrs. Tallard's and the family a call. The door to the kitchen which was heavily locked was broken open and the entire contents of the sideboard laid out on the dining room table. The thieves were evidently sorting it over when Misses Leo and Venice arrived home about 8 o'clock somewhat earlier than the uninvited guests expected them. They didn't stop to take the booty with them and all that was found to be missing was Mrs. Thompson's gold watch and chain that had been left lying on a dresser in the sleeping room on the first floor. This is the first theft of this kind in Edgerton in some time.

Unique Function.—The full quota of the New Century club gathered at the home of Mrs. Chas. Frederick Tallard last evening. Mrs. Tallard had her home very artistically decorated with flags, bunting and tiny lanterns in red, white and blue. Covers were laid for twenty-eight guests, each place being marked with the famous hatched and each guest favored with the noted cherry, while the napkins of red, white and blue formed a whole camp of tents that proudly floated the American flag. At 6:30 the following course dinner was served by the Misses Venice and Leo Thompson, who wore Martha Washington caps and aprons.

The reluctant advertiser, who has to be "persuaded" before he will risk even a half-advertisement, is described by a great writer in this way: "We do what we must, and call it by the best names we can, and would fain have the praise of having intended the result which ensues."

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

If you strike a thorn or rose,
Keep a-go-in!
If it hails or if it snows,
Keep a-go-in!
Taint no use to sit an' whine
When the fish ain't on your line,
Bait your hook an' keep on tryin'—
Keep a-go-in!

When the weather kills your crops,
Keep a-go-in!
When you tumble from the top,
Keep a-go-in!

'Spose you're out of every dime?
Gettin' broke ain't no crime.
Tell the world you're feelin' fine.
Keep a-go-in!

When it looks like all is up,
Keep a-go-in!
Drain the sweetness from the cup,
Keep a-go-in!

See the wild birds on the wing,
Hear the bells that sweetly ring,
When you feel like sighin' sing.
Keep a-go-in!

This little sentiment, from an unknown author, is heartily endorsed, and the advice strenuously followed by the fishing party now sojourning on the west coast of Florida.

The pier is lined with interested spectators, as the boats come in from half a day's trawl with frequently but little to show for the effort save a good appetite and a pair of disgusted fishermen. But the motto is "Keep a-go-in" and so the ground is covered day after day, for fishing requires patience and develops perseverance.

The world has never offered larger inducements to "Keep a-go-in" than it does today. Every avenue is waiting for men and women with nerve and pluck to occupy places of trust and responsibility.

The prizes of life are not for the laggard, nor for the man who is ready to yield to discouragement; at the first rebuffs, hidden treasure never discovers itself, and the earth gives up its riches to the prospector who toils for years to discover its hiding place.

The man who prospers for gold never recognizes failure, but "keeps a-go-in" until he grows old and gray in the service. He is an object lesson in persistence and the spirit which prompts to action and holds him steady to his purpose is the spirit which should inspire workers in every department for gold in the nugget is only one of the prizes which reward and determined effort produces.

While the prospector with pick and shovel keeps steadily to his work, other prospectors have been exploring in larger domains and the world enjoys today as never before the marvelous success which has crowned their efforts.

The human voice travels a thousand miles in an instant of time and is recognized as readily as when speaking at your elbow. You hang up the receiver and curse the telephone girl, forgetting the fact that the voice came to you as the result of years of tireless effort in the laboratory of the man who "kept a-go-in" night and day until the great problem was solved.

The discoveries of the past twenty-five years have crowded upon each other so rapidly that they are not half appreciated, and they are utilized in a spirit of criticism more than of appreciation.

This is due in a measure to the fact that the country is passing through an era of denunciation, falsely called reform, when the slogan, not always expressed, but vigorously practiced, is, "hit every head in sight."

Railroads climb mountains and cross deserts, performing feats of engineering that seem impossible, private carlines bring to the door of the producer the best market in the world, yet it is popular to denounce these great enterprises, and to handicap them in every possible way.

Men who possess the genius for accumulating great wealth, and who distribute it by furnishing employment to an army of workmen, are the target for every man who has a grievance, and the country is full of people with grievances.

The world is looking for sympathy and the most of us like to be told that we are absurd. The little "socialist" doesn't seem so obnoxious as it did a few years ago, because unconsciously we have become tainted with the damnable doctrine.

The men who have "kept a-go-in" are at the front. They enjoy an enviable position and we envy them. This spirit of envy has been so carefully nourished that it has developed courtiousness to an extent that a division of property is popularly demanded, and this is socialism pure and simple.

The disintegration of political parties forecasts danger, and if the time ever comes when reform accomplishes for the republican party what reform leaders are attempting to accomplish, socialism will be in the ascendency.

The primary law scheme, which is just now an epidemic, is an entering wedge, and the independent voter, the man without a party, is a dangerous element.

The republican party has "kept a-go-in" since the date of its organization. It has been successful because of loyalty to principles and fidelity. Its enemies today are within its own ranks and they are dangerous because posing as reformers.

The reforms which these men advocate do not belong to the realm of morals. They have to do with finance and business and the men who discuss them most glibly are destitute of both knowledge and experience.

They envy men who have been successful and find no trouble in enlisting a following.

Party lies amount to nothing as compared to the rights of the individual, and so every man is urged to be an independent voter. He is also advised that corporations are corrupt, and corporate wealth tainted.

The prosperity which the country enjoys counts for nothing, things need reforming. When Coxie abandoned his army of tramps some years ago he came to his senses and settled down in an Ohio town and engaged in the manufacturing business. Success came to him and he ceased to be a reformer.

The country would be benefited if a dozen men who pose today as reform leaders would retire from the field. Should they do so, the deluded army which follows them would melt away as rapidly as did Coxie's army.

The world will always have a place for people who "keep a-go-in" and it never offered larger opportunities than today.

PRESS COMMENT.
Just Reward for Honest Craft.
Ashland Press: What is the corollary of "honest craft"? Why, an honorable term in the penitentiary.

Scots at a King.
Sheboygan Journal: King Edward opened parliament yesterday with all the dignity he used to show as Prince of Wales in opening a jackpot.

Recent Developments.

Milwaukee Free Press: The fact that Jenkinson, defeated candidate for mayor of Pittsburg, is responsible for the "Pittsburg stoga" is sufficient.

Too Bad We Didn't Get Sarah.
Milwaukee Sentinel: Milwaukee playhouses have certainly done something this week to help elevate the drama—or the public taste, which is much to the same purpose.

Evansville Review: The teachers of our public schools went to Janesville Saturday, to attend the annual meeting of teachers. All came back again safe and sound.

Chicago Record-Herald: Secretary Taft believes in benevolent treatment of the Filipino, but he intimates that American smokers will not benevolently assimilate Philippine cigars.

Chicago Tribune: In case President Roosevelt should be too busy to attend to the matter, we take the liberty of suggesting that Hon. William L. Douglas of Massachusetts as a man peculiarly qualified to settle this Morocco trouble.

Curiosity Not Fully Sated.
Madison Democrat: Really the most inconsiderate thing of which Mrs. Longworth stands charged is that her going-away costume has not been shown. She ought to hang it out of the car window.

No One Kissed Morgan.
Racine Journal: Poor Pierpont Morgan! We say poor, because in spite of his advanced position as a financial magnate, and his millions, he was the only one of the passengers Saturday bound for England who did not receive a kiss.

He Also Had His Enemies.
Chicago Inter Ocean: It is pleasant to reflect that whatever else may happen we are all together in the matter of approving of everything that George Washington did for us. It might be well to remember, however, in this connection, that this was not always the case.

"Nobler" and No Trouble.
Exchange: Mark Twain had himself photographed recently, and he sent one of the pictures to a friend with this note: "Take notice of this, Frank Lawrence, old friend of mine: To be good is noble, but to teach others how to be good is nobler—and no trouble."—S. L. Clemens.

action of the common council in voting to pay the mayor a salary of $600 a year after May 1, will be generally commended. While this amount is wholly inadequate for the services demanded of such an official, it will serve to narrow the margin of sacrifice which a man makes by accepting the office, by just that amount. Fond du Lac ought to have for mayor a man of unimpeachable integrity, a man of experience and one who is able and willing to give the city a loyal service.

Drama in Rural Districts.
Exchange: "Mr. Spandoo and his company played Hamlet in the town hall last night. It was a great social event and all the elite of our fair village attended. There has been a long discussion as to whether Bacon or Shakespeare wrote the plays commonly attributed to Shakespeare. It can be easily settled now. Let the graves of the two writers be opened. The one who turned over last night is the author."

Woman, The Incomprehensible.
Madison Journal: It's a curious thing, this human affection, when put under the harrow. Just when a man thinks he understands the feminine heart, and can make it plain in a book, he goes home and finds his wife in tears or diligently making a footstool from an old soap box and some discarded crash. It may be either. They're strange, uncertain people, these women folks, and are to be handled with care. They can never be completely nailed down, and when sometimes they seem to be lost, forever, they'll be discovered in the attic reading badly spelled, faded letters you wrote when you worked in the rolling mill for $8 a week.

For A Two-Cent Rate.
Oshkosh, Northwestern: At the same time it is not impossible that some of the larger roads could really afford to make a flat two-cent passenger rate, and if it can be shown that such a reduction can be made and still return a fair profit on the business done, it is manifestly the duty of the railroad commission to order the reduction. In several of the eastern states a two-cent fare is the legal rate, and even in this state a considerable portion of the business done is handled at that rate. The sale of mileage books nets the roads only two cents per mile, excursionists are carried at that rate and even less, and statistics show that so-called commuters pay on the average only about 1 1/2 cents per mile.

Gazette's Stand Indorsed.
Evening Wisconsin: The Janesville Gazette has joined the continually increasing list of newspapers which feel called upon to have a heart to heart talk with candidates for nomination under the primary election law. It says: "The Gazette is endorsing no candidate for any of the city offices previous to the primaries. All candidates can have the columns of the paper open to their campaign—if they pay for it. No favorites are being played and all candidates are receiving the same treatment. This is one of the results of the primary law which was adopted by the people of this state. While it is a good thing for the newspapers it is perhaps not so good for the candidates themselves. Until the primaries are over the Gazette will treat all candidates impartially. After the primaries it will make a formal announcement what candidates it will support."

Taft's Bosh.
Milwaukee News: Speaking before the members of the Yale club at Chicago, Secretary Taft urged the "leisure class" to enter politics, saying that upon their interest in public affairs the fate of the republic depends. "With the increasing wealth of this country," he said, "it is certain that there will be more and more young men who are able to get along without looking to see where their livelihood is coming from. If these men cannot be induced to go into public life, at least working in their own homes for the betterment of the government, then we must despair of the republic." Indeed! How strange it is that the republic has survived during all these years that it has been forced to rely upon the services of men that were under the necessity of earning their livelihood instead of depending upon others to earn it for them!

The "leisure class," we are told, is above temptation. It can be trusted not to accept bribes because it is rich. The poor man is not to be trusted because he is poor. Honesty and morality become an attribute of wealth. Give office to a poor man and his necessities will lead him to dishonesty. The rich man in office, honest government is assured. All of which is bosh, even if it is urged by no less a person than William H. Taft, secretary of war and one of the ablest statesmen that the republican party has produced. Honesty is not confined to any class. The rich man's son may be worthy. He should not be excluded from office because he is rich—neither should the poor man be excluded from public favor because he is poor. Each man should stand on his own merits as a man—not upon the property that he possesses. To say these things is to repeat he very fundamentals of democracy; yet it were well that they be repeated, iterated and reiterated, in that they are challenged by the possessors of privilege.

A Little Knowledge.
A recent school examination in England elicited the following definition: "Noah's wife," wrote one boy, "was called Joan of Arc." "Water," wrote another, "is composed of two gases, oxygen and cambrigen." "Lava," replied a third youth, "is what the barber puts on your face." "A blizzard," insisted another child, "is the inside of a fowl."—Harper's Weekly.

Prompt Obedience.
Mr. Tucker (with his face lathered): "I see I've made a mistake and got my biggest shaving implement, Tommy!" Tommy—"Yes, sir."

Mr. Tucker—"Bring me my 'baby razor.'" Tommy (bawling out):—"Maw, come here! Paw wants you!"—Chicago Tribune.

WAS VICTIM OF A
SERIAL CON GAME

D. M. Barlass Advanced Property and Cash Three Times to Blaisdell of Milton, Before Crookedness Was Exposed.

D. M. Barlass is so thoroughly convinced that he has been made the victim of a confidence game that he has sworn out a warrant for the arrest of C. A. Blaisdell, the alleged swindler, who has been a resident of Milton for some years past but whose present whereabouts had not been definitely ascertained up to this morning. The man in question is thirty years of age and has a wife and three children who are now with relatives living near Watertown. He is known to have spent Wednesday night at Edgerton.

A week ago yesterday Blaisdell visited Mr. Barlass' implement warehouse on Court street in quest of a belt and hose for his threshing engine and finally selected an outfit for which he agreed to pay $32. The same was shipped to Milton and when it arrived there, it is alleged, that the foxey gentleman took it out of the express of ice and sold it to F. L. Hull for $10. On the following Tuesday Blaisdell was again a visitor at the Barlass place of business. This time he had something else on his mind. He confided to the proprietor that his engine was a second-hand one, in poor condition, and that he was expecting to buy a new one to cost about $1,800. He had located a customer by the name of Emerson, living near Afton, but he did not have the money just at the time to hire a livery rig and drive down and close the deal. Mr. Barlass was of course interested in expediting the business, as much as possible, and readily agreed to advance the $3 for hire of horse and buggy.

After about four hours had elapsed Blaisdell again put in an appearance and announced that the deal had been closed, and that he had agreed to take three head of horses in exchange for the engine. In order to consummate the deal, however, it was necessary to advance $12 and if Mr. Barlass would provide him with this money he would turn over three horses as security for the debt and part payment of the new engine, leaving them in the Nelson livery on the following morning.

Mr. Barlass again advanced the needed cash, but when he stepped into the livery the next morning to inspect the "security," he was informed that no strange horses were boarding there. They for the first time, it dawned upon him that in all probability he had been "fleeced" to the tune of $25 and he lost no time in getting to Milton and following up the destiny of the belt and hose. He found the man who had purchased them of Blaisdell and recovered the property by advancing the ten dollars.

Uncle Sam's Postal Gallery.
Uncle Sam's new Postal Gallery is greatly in demand. He deals in pictures fresh and new and never second hand.

He prints Ben. Franklin's bust in green, the cost one cent per head. And two cents for George Washington in most attractive red.

A purple print of Jackson can be bought for three cents new. Four cents will purchase Grant in brown and Lincoln, five in blue.

And Garfield's bust, magenta tint, for six cents can be had. Eight cents for Martha Washington in dark lilac she's clad.

Ten cents for Daniel Webster in a light brown suit you see. And a light blue boy on bicycle is a ten cent print "S. D."

Then thirteen cents buys Harrison in a dark slate dress today. For fifteen cents, in olive green you purchase Henry Clay.

In orange is printed Jefferson, and the price is fifty cents. When Farragut in black is sold, one dollar's the expense.

Two dollars buys James Madison in steel blue dress arrayed. For a dark green bust of Marshall five dollars must be paid.

The dollar and two dollar prints wherein the profit mounts. Are used by banks for packages, the rate two cents per ounce.

The print that costs five dollars, mostly used in foreign trade. Five cents for half an ounce, the rate the Postal Union made.

So Uncle Sam's monopoly in profit must be prime. As he can print a thousand at the cost of half a dime.

Consider Fat Beautiful.
According to Von Humboldt the natives of Guiana express their appreciation for a woman by saying that she is fat and has a narrow head. A traveler who spent much time with the Kirghiz of Asia says they estimate female beauty by the amount of fat; a man when speaking of the beauty of his wife never forgets to mention her weight.

MORE RAILROAD MEN FOR CITY?

REPORT SAYS JANESVILLE WILL BENEFIT BY A CHANGE

ON NORTHWESTERN SYSTEM

Engine Crews on Several Passengers and a Few Freight May Be Changed Here in Future.

It is reported on reliable authority that through a special ruling the Northwestern road will in the near future repair some of the injury done Janesville several years ago by the removal of the division headquarters from this city to North Fond du Lac.

This proposed change will bring as residents of the city the members of several engine crews on trains passing through here. The plan is to change all engine crews on passengers and freight passing through the Madison division of the road to the Wisconsin division at this point. The passengers in question would be those from Baraboo or beyond to Chicago and going south pass through at the following hours: 4:35, 4:55, 6:10 and 9:20 a. m. and 6:50 p. m.; going north: 9:15 p. m. and 12:20 a. m. and second section of same train at about 12:40 a. m. There would be freight in the same class. The cause for this change is probably found in the fact that under the present plan Madison division men run from Janesville to Chicago over the Wisconsin division. This gives them the mileage that really belongs to the Wisconsin division and in order to give the latter what belongs to them and to keep the payrolls of the two division superintendents separate. Harvard, Ill., will be benefited in some what the same way though not to such an extent as will Janesville in passenger crews, though possibly more in freight.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Patrick Conroy

After being in poor health for about a year, Mrs. Patrick Conroy died suddenly at her home in Lima last evening. The deceased, formerly Miss Sarah Purcell, was thirty-two years of age and one of the respected residents of the community which she has lived for about seventeen years.
